

Effective data & tracking

The most vulnerable students should be clearly identified and their needs prioritised
Practitioners should be aware of the gaps which must be narrowed and regularly monitor the impact of their provision on outcomes for students.

Ensuring students are well prepared to learn

In order to learn, students succeed best when they feel physically and emotionally secure, stimulated and engaged.

Providing wider opportunities

Students will have access to wider opportunities to engage in activities to drive better academic progress and encourage good social, moral, spiritual and cultural development.

It takes a community to raise a child

Provide opportunities for other services and professionals to engage with students to provide information, advice and guidance.

Can do climate – raising aspirations

Practitioners actively identify student strengths, gifts and talents and encourage individuals to build on these for their future.
School staff believe that all students can achieve whatever their circumstances and strive to ensure each child achieves his/her potential.

Outstanding teaching & learning

Provide opportunities for practitioners to share best practice and build on effective practice through a robust CPD programme
Provide an environment which promotes positive learning and development.

Working with others

Partnerships with other agencies and organisations.

Working with parents

Support parents and involve them in their children's education.
Create opportunities for shared learning and open communication in order to strengthen relationships, raise attainment and student progress.
